

FAY BAINTER WITH "THE KISS BURGLAR"

By LAWRENCE REAMER.

O this season seems likely to end as its predecessor did, with none of Franco-German war he had scented "The Rivals" with William Collier as the fictitious brilliancy imparted by the "all star" aggregation of and his works steadily increased in well known actors as John D. Williams popular actors usually in some drama so old that it needs all their the possession of this modern quality, will have been able to collect by next artistic lustre. Collecting the stars must be the least part of the dif. But in the famous masterpieces of the spring. After the "Ghosts" of Ibsen Sculty that confronts the managers. In a theatre which has half a whether it be "Belphegor." "The Cortice public appetite for the work Mrs. dezen stars to every well trained actor they must be as pientiful as the sican Brothers, or any of the others. Fiske and Gareth Hughes are a con-"bishops in their shovel hats" in Gilbert's couplets. Miss Taylor has the opening scenes are at least to a templated pair in the leading roles of "Out There" if they were brook trout instead of dramatic artists, and the noble cause to which their services are dedicated will insure comgathered what would certainly be called enough to make a good mess in spectator or reader to-day more enplete respect to the enterprise. But this crusade of the players is under- So there are few enough of them gether concealed. taken for patriotic benevolence and not for glory.

Probably the revival of the classics of the drama, as Mr. Corbin has still shorter. When the two plays of suggested, must compensate for the customary springtime ballyhoo over Sheridan and one of Goldsmith have the unprecedented gathering of the stars. Mme. Nazimova has been been named the end has been reached. with the assistance of Arthur Hopkins bringing Ibsen to a new genera- Nobody would dare risk Sheridan tion of playgoers who are said to crowd the gallery of the Plymouth Knowles to-day, and with the greatest "Belinda," a new three act comedy by Theatre and pore over the text in the vain effort to find some sort of more than half a dozen "old comedies" M. Barrie's one act comedy, "The New written a number of plays that have life in the metropolis and in the Berk-er"; how he produced it at the Pitt throughout the world, especially he written a number of plays that have life in the metropolis and in the Berk-er"; how he produced it at the Pitt throughout the world, especially he written a number of plays that have life in the metropolis and in the Berk-er"; how he produced it at the Pitt throughout the world, especially he written a number of plays that have life in the metropolis and in the Berk-er"; how he produced it at the Pitt throughout the world, especially he written a number of plays that have life in the metropolis and in the Berk-er"; how he produced it at the Pitt throughout the world, especially he written a number of plays that have life in the metropolis and in the Berk-er"; how he produced it at the Pitt throughout the world, especially he written a number of plays that have life in the metropolis and in the Berk-er"; how he produced it at the Pitt throughout the world especially he written a number of plays that have life in the metropolis and in the Berk-er"; how he produced it at the Pitt throughout the world. Especially he written a number of plays that have life in the metropolis and in the Berk-er"; how he produced it at the Pitt throughout the world. Especially he written a number of plays that have life in the metropolis and in the Berk-er"; how he produced it at the Pitt throughout the world. Especially he written a number of plays that have life in the metropolis and in the Berk-er"; how he produced it at the Pitt throughout the world. Especially he written a number of plays that have life in the metropolis and in the Berk-er"; how he produced it at the Pitt throughout the world. Especially he written a number of plays that have life in the metropolis and in the Berk-er"; how he produced it at the Pitt throughout the world. Espe But that is not the only discord that at present prevails at the Plymouth. son's end star holiday. Charles Frois-After garnering the fruits of his long and varied experience in the theaman contemplated "Richelleu" with a new playwright. The heroine of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the Humming of his works to receive an elaborate tion, more especially in the elaborate tion, more especially in the elaborate tion, more especi early thirties—in a book, the manager enjoys the pleasure every evening play in the repertoire of Robert Mans desire for masculine admiration and actors, including Norman Hackett, inn in the Berkshires.

and on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons of seeing Mme. Nazimova attentions of seeing Mme Nazimova attentions of seeing Mme Nazimova attentions of seeing Mme Nazimova attention and attention. It is a role that Miss Barry attention and attention. It is a role that Miss Barry attention and attention. It is a role that Miss Barry attention and attention. It is a role that Miss Barry attention and attention. It is a role that Miss Barry attention and attention. It is a role that Miss Barry attention and attention. It is a role that Miss Barry attention and attention. It is a role that Miss Barry attention and attention and attention. It is a role that Miss Barry attention and attention and attention and attention and attention. It is a role that Miss Barry attention and attention. It is a role that Miss Barry attention and attention. It is a role that Miss Barry attention and credo. But it does not help to smoothe the wrinkled brows in the gallery. Perhaps the whole question might be reduced to mathematical of the role at the end of her fingers but at the end of her toes as well.

Term. Wouldn't this express some of it?

A PATCH ON form. Wouldn't this express some of it?

As Nazimova is to Ibsen, so is Naz- | their popularity. The growth of in-

But that is wrong, since there is no the artistic manager of the present unknown quantity in the sum. Or is day calls the "punch" comes as nearly few. It a sum at all? There ought cer- as possible to the last word in the tainly to be an unknown quantity.
Then it must be liben. There is nothing unknown about Mr. Hopkins. He for Scandal" before the public with has bared, under the chaperonage of the first which is said to be an unusual kiss is stolen while she is visiting New Line in the principal role.

The next production at the Lexing-Bainter in the principal role.

The next production at the Lexing-Bainter in the principal role.

The next production at the drama on German espionage at and bred in Pittsburg may be found to Theatre is the new mystical drama. But that was not the custom of the older writers in all their plays, and musical novelty. The Mystery of Grand Duckess of Orly, from whom a life, which is said to be an unusual kiss is stolen while she is visiting New Life." which is said to be an unusual kiss is stolen while she is visiting New Life." When the custom of the drama on German espionage at and bred in Pittsburg may be found the form the principal role.

The next production at the Lexing-Bainter in the principal role.

The next production at the custom of the drama on German espionage at and bred in Pittsburg may be found the form of the older writers in the principal role.

The next production at the custom of the drama on German espionage at and bred in Pittsburg may be found the drama. But that was not the custom of the older writers in the principal role.

The next production at the custom of the drama on German espionage at and bred in Pittsburg may be found the drama on German espionage at and bred in Pittsburg may be found the drama on German espionage at and bred in Pittsburg may be found the drama on German espionage at and bred in Pittsburg may be found the drama on German espionage at and bred in Pittsburg may be found the drama on German espionage at and bred in Pittsburg may be found the drama on German espionage at an drama on German espion the theatre. Certainly there is nothing unknown about Mme. Nazimova. learns her bag of tricks in a few wittings. So the sum is not real arith-

There being but one Hartley Manners, it was probably the dearth of plays capable of successful revival that has brought the habit to an end. The masterpieces of the French theatre of the last century have been exhausted unless they be radically altered in form. It is the language of these pieces even in the vernacular that so completely unfits them for the presgeneration. Certainly an ancient and honorable work was the play that Tom Taylor took from the French and called "The Ticket of Leave Man." It is a masterplece of the scientific and iculous play making of its day and thrilled generallons. But imagine en audience sitting still under "Now, Jim Dalton, it's my turn," or in answer to a question, "Who are you?" hearing response "Hawkshaw, the detec-William Brady revived "The Lights o' London" and the public went after the first night to roar at the antiquated syntax of George Sims, who thought he had written with a simplicity suited to all ages in which his play might be acted. The swollen centimentality of "Rosedale" put the play out of court on the first night same fate would overtake any attempt to act "London Assurance" now the first minute that Grace Harkaway ened her mouth. The language in this play is a lesson in how not to write dialogue, and it is curious that its unnatural imagery could have been olerated at any time. Probably the same fatal envelope would condemn to rather ignominious failure any effort to bring forward "The Lady of Lyons"

Then there are other weaknesses in the most famous of these old boys that make them inappropriate to any managerial purposes to-day. In the play of d'Ennery, at least in the few with which the writer can claim acquaintance, the opening scenes are re interesting than those that follow. Is there, for instance, in "A Celebrated Case" any act as interesting as the prologue In "Le Bossu," which we have known under so many names, ut probably best as "The Duke's Motto," there is an almost steady decline of interest from the first act. The mood of the public has changed in this particular since the plays of these writers were at the height of available now, and the English list is

Mr. Nathan, the crystal of his artistic Orphans," which may explain the John at Charles and Lionel as Joseph, production. The entire work is by J. York. The "kiss burglary" is the re- Home" from Mr. Brady; how he com- Cadman's opera, "Shewanis," has just heart to the world in his memories greater popularity of that drama, while she of course heautifully em- F. N. O'Conor, S. J., well known in New suit of a social secretary's scheming pletely rewrote the text of the play, been produced at the Metropoiltan most characteristic works after the Then there is the promised revival of the public demand in this particular Bob and as many other suitable and

THE WEEK'S PLAYS.

E THEL BARRYMORE to-morrow night at the Empire will appear for the first time in

of it?

The popularity. The growth of inclimax of the play when she was in their popularity. The growth of inclimax of the play when she was in th springtime artistic theatre cleaning is the part she originated last season; Hubbell will begin its first metropoli-Philip Tonge and Mary Balfour.

TERESA VALERIO IN "JACK O'LANTERN"

Cohan Theatre on Thursday with Fay of "The Man Who Stayed at Home."

of a long career of several years in When Victorien Sardou began his bodies the high spirited Lady Teasle York as a writer and educations; to get publicity for his wealthy patron, which was originally done in New York Opera House with great success. His town of lucre and smoke, to reach New any city in America outside of New Mary Roberts Rinehart, unquestiontan engagement at the George M. York is William Moore Patch, producer York, the drama on German escionage at and bred in Pittsburg may be found others.

known as "The Italian Battlefront," at Nevin, who has written so many the Forty-fourth Street Theatre last exquisite things; Stephen Foster.

"The latest example of genius born in the triumph of Charles Wakefield

ETHEL' BARRYMORE IN "BELINDA" THE WEEK IN THE THEATRE. MONDAY-The Empire Theatre: Ethel Barrymore will be seen in "Belinda," by A. A. Milne. J. M. Barrie's "The Last Word" will be acted as a curtain raiser. The Lexington Theatre: "The Mystery of Life," by J. F. X. O'Conor, will be acted professionally for the first time.

THURSDAY—Cohan Theatre: Fay Bainter will be seen in "The Kiss Burglar," by Glen MacDonough and Raymond Hubbell.

Mr. Milne, the author of "Belinda," is amateur societies; but this is the first costumes are features of the produc-mnoser of "Way Down ably the best known woman author in the United States to-day, and many

Mr. Patch said that there was another Pittsburg man who had recently come to New York to engage in the theatrical business for whom he had a great admiration. He mentioned the name of Joseph Riter, 1 ducer of "Erstwhile Susan" with Mrs. Fiske, "Romance and Arrabella" a number of other plays. Mr. Patch stated that Mr. Riter had retired temporarily from his theatrical noticeties, but would probably take them ur again very shortly.

"Mr. Riter is a very unusual type of man," said Mr. Paich. "Happily, he is possessed of unlimited means, and is therefore able to give full rein to the talent he possesses in so far as the stage is concerned. I predict that h will do big things. Naturally be live taken up the theatre not to wear out his old clothes but to make money. But I think he is really in the thing for the love of it. He is the most generous and honest individual I have ever met; his life is given over ontirely to the service of other people

Mr. Patch said that few New York people realized what a remarkable ett. Pittsburg was, in so far as its pursit of art, science and letters went. "It is somewhat backward in music, I m. admit," said Mr. Patch, 'and especial since the Pittsburg Symptony Caches tra under the direction of Emil Paul was dispanded.

Astor, "Fancy Free": Belasco.
"Polly With a Past"; Bijou, "A Pair of Petticoats"; Broadhurst,
"Maytime"; Booth, "Seventeen"; Casino, "Sealed Orders"; Comedy, Washington Square Players; Cohan, "The Kiss Burglar"; Cohan & Harris, "A Tailor Made Man"; Cort, "Flo-Flo"; Eltinge, "Business Before Pleasure"; Empire, Ethel Barrymore; Forty-eighth Street, "The Man Who Stayed at Home": Forty-fourth Street, "Hearts of the World"; Globe, Fred Stone in "Jack-o'-Lantern"; Gaiety, "Sick-a-Bed"; Hudson, "Nancy Lee"; Hippodrome, "Cheer Up!" Knickerbocker, Gerard's Four Years in Germany: Liberty, "Going Up"; Lyric, "The Caillaux Case"; Lyceum, "Tiger Rose": Morosco, "Lombardi, Ltd."; Maxine Elliott's, "Eyes of Youth"; the Park, "Seven Days Leave"; Playhouse, "The Little Teacher"; Playmoush, Alla Naria Teacher": Plymouth, Alla Nazimova: Princess, "Oh, Lady!
Lady!!" Thirty-ninth Street.
William Hodge: Theatre du Vieux Colombier, "The Servant in the House," and Winter Garden, "Sinbad" with Al Jolson.

MARGARET PARELEIGH and JOSEPH MACAULAY AT THE GREENWICH VILLAGE THEATRE. WALKER W "NANCY LEE" ADRIENNE MORRISON and EDITH WYNNE